

ABSTRACT

- 1 A process for the combustive destruction of noxious substances in a gas stream
2 which comprises injecting the gas stream into a heated chamber with sufficient 3 oxygen to allow substantially complete combustion therein, wherein hydrogen is 4 also present in the chamber as a fuel gas.